City Hosp., Hamilton, Nov 24, 1918, dau. of Mr &
Mrs. J. B. McAlister, aged 19 yrs. 10 mo. 6 days.

MACAULAY, "The father of the Honorable John, and the Rev. William Macaulay, settled during the Revolutionary war on Carleton Island, then a British station and fortification, where he supplied the commissariat and garrison, and carried on business. In 1794, Mr. Macaulay removed to Kingston, where he amassed considerable property. When he removed to Kingston, he had rafted over from Carleton Island his log dwelling house, and placed it where it now stands at the corner of Princess and Ontario Streets. It has since been clap-boarded over and added to, and having been kept painted and in good repair is still a very habitable building."— (Cooper).

Mr. Macaulay had come to New York shortly before the commencement of the Colonial troubles, and as a loyalist had his house pillaged and burnt, by the rebels, and became a refugee at the military post at Carleton Island. About 1785, he settled at Kingston, where he married, and remained until his death, in September, 1800, being fifty-six years old. He was at no time connected with the service, but engaged his time in commercial business, and was on most intimate terms with those in authority, being a particular friend of the Duke of Albano. His sons continued his business and in time were called to occupy honorable and responsible situations under the Government, as Legislative Councilor, Surveyor General, Provincial Secretary, Inspector General, Chaplain to Legislative Assembly, and Commissioners on various important matters.

Deed of King Made in 1796 Is Unearthed

Land Tract Granted to Daniel McDonell in Canada

Ogdensburgh, Jan. 25.—One of the most interesting documents brought to light in some time is a deed to property "in the Province of Upper Canada," granted to Daniel McDonell, son of John McDonell, and now in the possession of Mrs. Ruby Kelley, a resident of the Black Lake Road in the town of Hammond. Mrs. Kelley is a descendant of the original owner.

The yellow parchment shows that King George III of Great Britain granted to McDonell 200 acres in the second concession in the township of Mountain, some distance east of the present site of Prescott, opposite Ogdensburgh.

John McDonell was a soldier in a loyalist regiment which fought during the Revolutionary War on the side of Great Britain, and the grant of land was given in recognition of his services to the king. Attached to the deed is the official seal of King George, a large wax disc 10 inches in circumference and weighing nearly eight ounces. The deed was countersigned by the inspector general of the king's army and bears two dates, July 9, 1796, and July 7, 1807.

The following are some extracts from the ancient document:

"George the Third, by the grace of God, of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, King, defender of the faith:—To all to whom these presents come, greetings.

"Know ye, that we of our special grace, certain knowledge and mere motion have given and granted, and by these presents do give and grant, unto Daniel McDonell of the township of Edwardsburgh in the County of Grenville in the district of Johnstown, son of John McDonnell, soldier in the loyalist regiment in New York, his heirs and assigns forever, all that parcel or tract of land situate in the township of Mountain in the County of Dundas, in the eastern district in our said province, containing by measurement 200 acres, lot No. 9 in the second concession of the said township of Mountain, together with all the woods and waters thereon lying, and being under the reservations, limitations and conditions hereunder expressed."

The deed states that all mines of gold, silver, copper, tin, lead, iron and coal, and all white pine trees shall remain the property of the donor. The conveyance is attested by numerous officials, of whom the name of Francis Gore, lieutenant governor of the province, is conspicuous. The name of D'Arcy Boulton is also inscribed on the deed.

Mrs. Kelley attaches considerable value to the deed and has received offers for it from a number of collectors.

Set Tomorrow

300 to Be Graduated

Central Exercises Last Night, North Monday, Vocational Tuesday

A record registration of 40,000 pupils is expected with the reopening of public schools tomorrow for the spring term, following the mid-year Regents examinations.

Dr. G. Carl Alverson, superintendent of schools, is making arrangements to relieve overcrowded conditions in schools in Eastwood and Valley sections.

Three hundred high school pupils have completed their studies. Approximately 1,000 pupils will graduate from the grades into high school. A large entrance class in kindergarten and first grade is expected.

Graduation exercises of Central High School took place last night with 140 pupils receiving their diplomas. North High will graduate 65 Monday night and Blodgett Vocational High 95 Tuesday night.

Onondaga Valley High School already is crowded beyond its capacity and the registration is expected to be increased considerably with the opening of the new term.

Rooms in a nearby house already are being used to accommodate the overflow and plans are being made to use space in the Onondaga Valley Presbyterian Church in West Seneca Turnpike for the lower grades.

The new VanDuyn School in Fish Avenue is under construction and will be completed in time for the opening of the fall term in September. This school, within a few blocks of Valley High School, will accommodate the lower grades and relieve the crowded conditions in that institution.

The four schools in the Eastwood section are overcrowded and with no other quarters available, Dr. Alverson is confronted with the most serious problem of seating pupils.

Nichols, James Street and Sheridan Road Schools are accommodating their limit of pupils. All available space in Eastwood High School is filled and the balcony of the auditorium has been divided into three class rooms to take care of the overflow.

Two plans have been advanced to relieve the conditions in that section, but in either case relief would not be available for at least a year.

One plan calls for the extension of the wings of the school and the construction of a center wing to connect the two. This would provide at least 12 new class rooms.

The other plan provides for the construction of a new grade school in Forest Hill Drive near Caleb Avenue. This school would not only relieve crowded conditions but also would permit abandonment of the Sheridan Road School, the only wooden structure in use in the school system.

John F. Hummer, assistant superintendent of schools, was the speaker at Central High graduation exercises conducted last night in the audi-

DR. CHARLES O. HOMANS, 64, died at his home in Hubbard's Bay, Nova Scotia, on November 22, 1965.

He was born at Clam Harbour and, as a young boy, moved to Port Mouton. He studied at Acadia University, Wolfville, before graduating in medicine from Dalhousie University in 1926. He first practised at Ship Harbour and from 1931 to 1939 was in practice at Hubbards.

During World War II he served overseas for four years with the R.C.A.M.C. and, on his return to Nova Scotia, joined the staff of Camp Hill D.V.A. Hospital at Halifax.

He leaves his widow, the former Edna B. MacLean, and two married daughters.

DR. PHILIPS M. MACDONNELL, 74, died in Kingston, Ontario, on November 18, 1965.

He was born in Kingston and was educated in schools there and in the Faculty of Medicine of Queen's University, graduating in 1916. He saw service with the C.A.M.C. during the First World War. After interning in Montreal he returned to Queen's for postgraduate study in the specialty of internal medicine and in 1924 established a practice in Kingston which he carried on until his retirement. During the Second World War he commanded the Canadian Forces Hospital at Barriefield with the rank of lieutenant-colonel.

A former coroner, he lectured at Queen's University in medical jurisprudence and toxicology and had, at one time, been medical doctor for the university. He was an active member of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, the St. John Ambulance Corps, the Kingston Historical Society, and The Canadian Medical Association to which he had belonged for over 45 years.

Dr. Macdonnell leaves his widow, Helen, and three married daughters.

DR. MALCOLM S. MACLEAN, 64, of Welland, Ontario, died on November 30, 1965.

Born in North Dakota, he graduated in medicine from the University of Toronto in 1931 and interned at the Toronto Western Hospital for two years, the second year as senior resident in obstetrics and gynecology. He began general practice in Fonthill and after a short time took over the practice of the late Dr. Duncan Alison of Welland. During the Second World War he served for six years with the R.C.A.F. in Canada, retiring with the rank of wing commander. After receiving certification from the Royal College of Physicians and Surgeons of Canada in the specialty of Obstetrics and Gynecology, he was appointed Chief of the Obstetrical Department at the Welland General Hospital, where he served until shortly before his death. It was mainly due to his efforts that this hospital received full accreditation.

For a number of years he was coroner and jail surgeon in Welland County and, as a result of his work along these lines, had prepared a brief which was presented before the Select Committee of the Ontario Government on Capital Punishment. This was widely publicized and was impressive for its clarity and sym-

DR. LORENZO L. FRENETTE, 57, died at Bathurst, N.B., on October 30 following a cerebral hemorrhage suffered several days earlier. At the time of his death he was District Medical Officer and Chief Coroner of the County of Gloucester and had held these posts for several years.

Born in Bathurst, the only son of Felix T. Frenette and the former Ida Berube, he completed his classical studies at Sacred Heart College in that city and was one of the first two graduates to be awarded the degree of B.A. by that institution. The study of medicine followed at the University of Montreal and, after graduating with honours in 1936, he returned to practise in his home town.

A former medical director of Notre-Dame des Lourdes Sanatorium and past president of the Hôtel-Dieu medical staff, he had given his support to mental health and tuberculosis associations as well.

As alderman and later mayor, Dr. Frenette participated actively in any movement designed to improve the interests and welfare of Bathurst and his fellow citizens. He took a deep and lively interest in all sports, particularly hockey, in which he had excelled in his youth. His professional services were always available to the Bathurst Papermaker team.

A talented violinist and organist himself, he was director of the Sacred Heart Cathedral Choir and the Bathurst Male Choir for many years. He also played a leading role in the Bathurst Concert Orchestra and the Citizens' Band.

Surviving are his widow, the former Marie Jeanne Laframboise, and two daughters.

DR. RANDOLPH J. GIBBONS, 58, Professor and Head of the Department of Bacteriology of the University of Ottawa, died in that city on September 7, 1965, after a long illness.

A native of Toronto, he was educated at the University of Toronto where he received the following degrees: B.A., St. Michael's College—1928; M.D., Faculty of Medicine—1931; and M.A., School of Hygiene—1933. In 1935 Dr. Gibbons was awarded the Diploma in Public Health and in 1955 he was certified by the Royal College of Physicians and Surgeons of Canada as a specialist in Public Health.

In 1938 he was appointed Senior Bacteriologist, Laboratory of Hygiene, in the Department of Pensions and National Health, and he served the department in various capacities. He was Chief of the Laboratory of Hygiene in the newly organized Department of National Health and Welfare in 1947, when he joined the University of Ottawa as Professor and Head of the Department of Bacteriology.

During World War II he conducted a special investigation on epidemic gastroenteritis on troopships, following which he was an instructor in the School of Military Hygiene of the R.C.A.M.C., with the rank of captain. He was the author of a large number of scientific papers, the majority of which were concerned with dysentery and Rocky Mountain spotted fever.

A Short Life, a Long Memory

By GEORGE MCKANDAY

AS A general rule, you don't expect to be startled by anything you might see in an old and little used cemetery. Especially in broad daylight. And yet, if you were to visit the place where Ketty McLean was buried over 90 years ago, you would be amazed to see her gravestones standing white, gleaming and brand new amid the other old and indecipherable markers.

Why you wonder, would these new stones appear in an ancient burial ground near the site of the abandoned Silver Islet mine on a remote section of Lake Superior's North Shore? The cemetery has long been left to time and the elements. It is overgrown with brush and tall evergreens have sprung from some of the graves, pushing aside the old decorative wooden fences which still show evidence of fine craftsmanship.

There, amid the slowly disappearing traces of a cemetery which in the long ago served a thriving community, stand the gravestones which look as if they had just been taken out of the packing case. Oddly enough, that is exactly what has happened—and it happened because Julian G. Cross of Port Arthur is blessed with a long memory.

If Ketty Ann McLean's parents had been able to pay for the stones, you wouldn't be hearing this story at all, because her short life was just another of the incidents connected with her time. She was born and died 10 days later in the flourishing village of Silver Islet, presumably the daughter of a miner, and her future may have been as full of promise as the silver mine where her father worked.

A fabulously rich deposit of silver was being mined on a tiny island about a mile offshore in Lake Superior, some 25 miles east of Port Arthur. This operation was carried on for about 15 years and the village of Silver Islet grew and prospered on the mainland opposite the site. It was in its heyday when Ketty was born in 1872, but a little later the silver petered out and the mine closed down.

It is a safe guess that the baby's parents felt her loss deeply when they went to the expense of stone markers for her grave in a cemetery where nearly everyone else had used wooden slabs.

No one knows when the stones were ordered, but it could be assumed that they were delivered about the time the mine closed down. At any rate, when they did arrive, Ketty's parents were unable to pay for them and they remained in a crate in the mining company's storehouse about half a mile from the child's grave.

Nearly all the villagers moved away and sought work in other mines, but a few of those connected with the Silver Islet operation stayed and engaged in other pursuits. In the course of time these people, too, moved away or died and the village of Silver Islet was uninhabited.

However, the well-constructed buildings remained. Lake Superior and the elements removed almost every trace of the structures and cribbing from the island where the silver was mined, but those in the village on the mainland lasted well.

Down the road of time they came, these old buildings, weathering the furious storms of many seasons but still retaining the rugged spirit of those who built and lived in them. Even today most of the village is nearly as sound as ever—the homes, the hotel, the jail, the carpenter shop and the old storehouse. In the storehouse, still in the crate, Ketty's gravestones lay forgotten for 90 years.

Forgotten? Not quite. There was one man—probably the only person alive today—who knew how they came to be there. He is Julian G. Cross of Port Arthur, whose parents were among those who chose to remain at Silver Islet when the mining operation ceased.

Mr. Cross of course has no recollection of the village in its active days, for the mine was closed long before he was born. However, he does remember many of the stories of Silver Islet he heard as a small boy from his father. One of these stories was about Ketty McLean's gravestones, which even then had been in the storehouse for nearly 20 years.

Today Mr. Cross spends a lot of time in the summer at Silver Islet. So do a lot of other people, many of them descended from the early residents of the village. All the old houses are occupied in the summer and many new summer homes have been built. Even the jail has been turned into a delightful residence and the old carpenter shop is a dance hall for the Junior Campers Association. One end of the old storehouse is used as a grocery store and it was when Mr. Cross was having the rest of the building cleaned out recently that the long forgotten gravestones of Ketty McLean once more came to light.

Julian Cross is the man who, in the winter of 1938, drilled through an ice-covered lake in the wilderness northwest of Port Arthur and discovered Steep Rock, one of the richest iron ore mines in the world. His family and associates now own the old Silver Islet Mine, the village and a considerable area beyond, including the cemetery where Ketty was buried.

The exact location of her grave is as completely lost as all memory of her would have been except for the stones. But they had been preserved, and Mr. Cross decided that he would remove the many years accumulation of grime and erect them himself in a pleasant spot in the old cemetery.

A little ceremony was arranged and they called it "Ketty Ann's Day." A small procession formed and the gravestones were reverently conveyed from the old storehouse where they had lain for so long to the Silver Islet Cemetery where the child was buried. There a dedication service was conducted at the chosen location by Rev. Harry Heathfield of Port Arthur and the stones, her parents couldn't pay for were erected.

Youth Group Claimed Front For U.S. Reds

Washington, Jan. 10 (AP) — Attorney-General Robert Kennedy asked the U.S. Subversive Activities Control Board today to order Advance, a New York City group, to register as a Communist-front organization. In a petition, Mr. Kennedy charged that Advance, which describes itself as an organization of progressive youth, was organized by the Communist Party in February, 1960.

The board was told the organization, with headquarters in New York, has been directed and financed by the Communist Party since its inception. The petition said the purpose of the organization is to aid and support the Communist Party by conducting picket lines, protest rallies, propaganda campaigns and other activities.

The Justice Department said the Attorney-General acted after an extensive investigation by the Federal Bureau of Investigation. The petition was filed under the Subversive Activities Control Act of 1950, which requires Communist-front organizations to register with the Attorney-General.

Advance is the 22nd organization against which a Communist-front petition has been filed.

Baby's Crying Foils Escape

Berlin, Jan. 10 (Reuters) —A crying baby hidden in the trunk of a car apparently led to the arrest by East German police last night of its mother and two men, West Berlin police said today. A spokesman said it was believed the two men were trying to smuggle the woman and baby into Malays and Chinese form the bulk of Brunei's population; most live in and about the capital. Some homes are on stilts in the suburb of Kampong Ayer, the "water village" begun when early settlers decided it was easier to build over the water than to clear the jungle.

Boardwalks and swaying bridges connect the maze of stilted houses, shops and mosques. Some old people are believed never to have set foot on land.

Brunei's prosperity reaches beyond the capital. A Dyak fisherman, descendant of the headhunting "wild men of Borneo," now climbs into his primitive dugout canoe, glances at his waterproof wrist watch, yanks the starter cord on his outboard motor, and whooshes upstream in a spray of foam. About 1,000 outboard motors are sold annually.

Today may be Brunei's Golden Age, but it is not the country's first. In the early sixteenth century, Brunei sultans ruled all of Borneo, the world's third-largest island. Its war canoes spread terror from Java to the Philippines.

Magellan's chronicler, Pigafetta, in 1521 called old Brunei Town "this greatest ever of Malay cities, rich in wealth and proud in bearing."

Gradually Brunei's power and holdings shrank. By 1888, Brunei was reduced to an impoverished coastal patch under

Study Low Tax On Parking Lots

The city legislation committee has ordered a report from the Metropolitan assessment commissioner to determine whether under-taxing of Toronto parking lots is hampering development.

The report was ordered on the recommendation of Alderman William Archer, who said that the business tax on downtown parking lots was based on 10 per cent of their assessment. If the operators were taxed at a justifiably higher rate it was possible more valuable land would become available in the heart of the city for suitable developments, the alderman

To H.C. Burleigh M.D.

Dear Doctor Burleigh

I was indeed pleased this morning at receiving your kind letter. I should have enjoyed meeting you I am sure either at your home or in Pictonas we are both so interested in historical and U.E.L. things. Re. the location where our ancestors drew lots for their land; one person told me the spot was near Millhaven but after we left your home the day I called we were informed by another person who felt he was correct that the spot is at Adolphustown just near the old burying ground in which the monument was erected in memory of the Loyalists 100 years after they had landed there. He (Mr. Collings) thinks the old stump of the tree under which the lots were drawn for still remains. You may know Mr. Collings or have heard of him. He bought and is living in the old Judge Fisher home. After leaving your home I called at several houses to ask about the spot I was trying to get information about but no one seemsd to be able to tell me what I wanted to know until I met Mr. Collings. We must try and find out whether his information is correct or not. I would be so pleased to hear from you any time you may learn anything and should I have anything of importance to impart I will surely let you have it.

Have you ever met Dr. Stothers in Picton and Mr. Herrington of Napanee? Both have much historical data of interest. We spent an evening with Mr. Herrington while in Napanee and enjoyed it so much. Our talk with Dr. Stothers was all too short as we were leaving Picton.

My father was Dr. Noxon one of a large old Loyalist family of Bloomfield Prince Edward Co. My mother was one of the Fraleigh family also a U E L family .Both these names appear in a book of yearly census of Adolphustown.

now in the possession of Mr.Herrington.

I think the institution of a Loyalist week a grand idea and if ever it becomes a reality I hope to participate in the celebration.

There are some plaques and signs at different points marking old landmarks etc. but not nearly enough. I would be glad to see more.

I took some very nice snaps on our trip east which turned out very fine.

One was the stone monument beside Finkles Tavern site ;one the monument in the cemetery at Adolphustown; the old Fairfield home at Bath recently acquired by my cousin Mrs.Gutzeit who was a Fairfield. Near Napanee is the original U.E.L.home of the Carscallen family .I.got a good picture of it
We had lunch one day at the old Loesee Tavern at Millhaven which is now a Tourists resort. There is much of interest to ones of our type all through Pr.Ed.CO. Adolphustown Bath Collins Bay etc.

I hope some day we may meet and discuss all these things we are so much interested in. Should you come to Toronto you might find time to call or at least phone me . Phone Me.2529. I am lady vice-president of the Governor Simcoe U.E.L. which means chairman of the ladies. I write for both the Picton papers (Gazette and Times) U.E.L.doings.

Once again let me say I am so pleased to hear from you and believe me

Sincerely Yours

MEMORANDUM:

Person First White Child Born at Fort Macleod Has Vivid Recollections at Age of 76

CALGARY (CP) — Mrs. A. E. Cross, who as Helen Macleod was the first white child born at Fort Macleod in southwestern Alberta, retains vivid recollections of life in the pioneer West.

Now 76, and widowed 22 years, Mrs. Cross still lives in the Calgary house where she was taken as a bride 55 years ago. Her face is etched with wrinkles but her eyes have lost little of their girlhood humor and brightness.

A daughter of J. P. Macleod, famous colonel of the North West Mounted Police, her childhood companions were Indian children. In fact she spoke the Blackfoot dialect before English and always has had a soft spot in her heart for the Indian people. Fort Macleod was named after her father.

Mrs. Cross likes to recall her wedding at the Anglican pro-cathedral here. It was held up while friends scurried around in search for the church's organ pumper. Finally a volunteer was found.

Her husband, a pioneer rancher and organizer of the Calgary Brewing and Malting Company in 1892, died in 1932.

"I remember," said Mrs. Cross, "that my mother had ordered a grey frock for my wedding. I was very disappointed because I had got it into my head that only widows wore grey."

"There wasn't much time left, but my mother sent a rush order to Toronto for a white satin gown. It took a long time to get here and arrived the day before my wedding."

That gown with its high neck and long billowing train is a cherished possession of Mrs. Cross.

Probably an itinerant clergyman performed her baptism ceremony in view of the fact that there is no record of her birth at Fort Macleod. But there is little doubt she was the first white child born there.

"My mother had a Negro helper called Auntie who used to say she and mother were the first two 'white' women in Alberta," Mrs. Cross said. "Mother found Auntie in Missouri. She was with us for years and died not long ago at Pincher Creek."

Col. Macleod took his family to Calgary in 1894. He died in 1895 and Helen helped support the family by working as cashier for the Hudson's Bay Co. store.

She was painstaking about her books because any discrepancy was deducted from her salary. However, the day before she left to be married there was a slight error in calculation.

According to her figures the store made a profit of $1,000,000 that day in 1899.

Dear Sir:

I am presently engaged in searching my husband's family history.

The Mallorys are one of the Ancient Families of New Haven - I have traced the direct line back to 1644 & have not completed my search in this direction.

However, I am interested now in the date or about which the family came to Canada. From

Mallory took over the farm + later lived in Belleville.

It is my theory that Ezra came to Canada with cousins - his father remained and continued to live in Hamden, Connecticut
+ later Cornwall.

I should appreciate any information you may have to offer with regard to EZRA MALLORY.

Very truly yours

the family bible & from letters we know that EZRA MALLORY (my husband's great great grandfather) came to Canada through Adolphstown sometime prior to 1800. He had five children all of whom we believe were born in and around
 Bay of Quinte. The first son,
Edwin was born in 1804 - he lived in Foxboro & Belleville. The next two children (Elsie Halsey & Emily Ann) married and went north. The second son went west in the Gold Rush and died there.
 The third son, Isabel Bradley was born in 1828 and settled in Frankfort. His son, Burnham

MARR

Information sent to Mrs. Henry Jameson in 1958 from Mr. Claude W. Barlow of Worcester, Mass.

(Note: Ware, Warren and Charlston, Massachusetts, are all towns quite close to each other)

The BLAIR Genealogy states that AGNES MARR was a daughter of JAMES MARR, who must have been one of the Scotch - Irish settlers in Massachusetts some time after 1720. The following Marrs whose marriages intents were recorded in Warren, Mass. :

- 1 - Agnes Marr m. William Blair Nov. 9, 1754, son of David and Mercy (Howard) Blair, Scotch - Irish. She died 23 Jan., 1824, age 95 b.1730.
- 2 - Mary Marr m. Samuel McAllester Mar. 1, 1756
- 3 - Martha Marr m. Isaac Merrit Mar. 18, 1758 (intentions) and married May 18, 1758 in Brookfield. They lived in Charlton, Mass. and in 1771 in Palmer, Mass.
- 4 - Elizabeth Marr m. Alexander Blair of Glasgow. Intentions Sept. 24, 1762. (He was not a brother of the above William Blair.)
- 5 - Hannah Marr m. Samuel Merritt - intentions Aug. 25, 1764. They lived Charlton, Mass. where he died 1771. A WILLIAM MARRS was appointed guardian of the children in 1783.
- 6 - Lydia Marr m. Robert Kelley of Charlton, Oct. 22, 1771. She was his 2nd wife and hd died there 1783. Some of the children were taken by William Marrs in Warren.
- 7 - Sarah Marr m. Mathew Cammel (Campbell) of East Windsor, Conn. intentions recorded June 26, 1773.

There was obviously at least one son of James Marr named William as the following records indicate:

A search of the deed in the Worcester County courthouse shows that JAMES MARR first appears in Warren when he bought 60 acres of land Nov. 7, 1748. His name appears on eight other transactions. Most interesting is one dated: Dec. 7, 1767, in which Mary, his wife, signed the deed releasing her dower rights. These are important because there is no mention of James in the Vital Records of that town. It would appear that his children were all born and some of them full grown at the time he came to this country. He may have come from Ireland or it is possible he had lived some years in one of the towns further east in the State (Mass.). Two or three of the deeds show that he held land in common with David Blair, whose son married a Marr daughter. Only once his name was spelled MARRS on a deed. He could not sign his name but made a mark which looks like 'J'. On July 24, 1778 JAMES MARR turned over to WILLIAM MARR, whom he refers to as 'my son' his homestead place of 60 acres and at least two other pieces of land.

WILLIAM MARR and ISABEL HAMILTON entered an intention of marriage in Warren, Mass., in 1770, June 8, and the marriage was performed in Blanford where she lived. He died Aug. 14, 1802 in his 59th year and is buried in Warren, Mass. His widow died in Warren June 30, 1829, age 80. They had the following children:

- 1 - Daniel b. Aug. 26, 1772
- 2 - Eunis b. Sept. 14, 1774
- 3 - WILLIAM b. Mar. 11, 1777

WILLIAM MARR lived in New Hampshire for a while and then settled in ELIZABETH TOWN, Upper Canada, where he died ~~before~~ before 1835. He left three children:

- 1 - William N. Marr living in Warrne in 1836
- 2 - Merrilla, still single in 1835
- 3 - Sally - married Thomas Shepherd in 1835. These last two were living in Augusta, Granville County, and district of Johnstown, Upper Canada, when they gave their brother power of attorney to sell their interest in the estate of their grandfather. The wife of William Marr, Jr., mentioned in the deed and mother of the above three children was JANE ?.

The foregoing substantiates and completes the data from the U.E.L. Association of that area:

WILLIAM MARR was a United Empire Loyalist from Ware, Mass. He and Braddish Billings (1784 - 1864) in the year 1810 - 1811 penetrated up the Rideau River into the Township of Gloucester which is within the environs of the present city of Ottawa and they took out oak ~~timber~~ timber on a partnership basis. The former was drowned in the spring ~~run~~ of 1815 by falling off a barge in the St. Lawrence River about 8 miles west of Brockville, Ontario. William Marr married JANE SHIRLEY (d. May 1, 1830 age 37), the daughter of William Shirley, Esq., Captain - General and Governor - in Chief of Massachusetts, and their family consisted of the following children:

- 1 - Sally (1810 - 1899) m. Thomas Shepherd
- 2 - Nelson
- 3 - Marilla (1814-1900) m. James Longley

The widow Marr married secondly Hugh Murray (1778 - 1858) and they were the parents of:

| 6 - Hugh Telford | b. 1827 - 1903 m. Caroline Amelia Morey |

The foregoing persons were long established in the South Augusta and Brockville district, and several of them are buried in READ'S cemetery at the former place.

The Medical Profession in Upper Canada.

Dr. Seth Meacham.

Was born and educated in New Hampshire, where he also acquired his medical knowledge. It is worthy of notice that Dr. Meacham was dissatisfied with republican government, and resolved to make his home in Canada, and cast his lot among the U. E. Loyalists, who had been expatriated by the victorious rebels of 1776. In taking this step, he forsook everything in the way of riches and position. He came to Upper Canada in 1801, when about thirty years of age. His journey occupied three weeks. Crossing over at Brockville, he proceeded westward on the lookout for an eligible place at which to settle. On reaching the mouth of Myers' creek (where Belleville now stands), he found a few scattered houses and a limited population; but among them were a few who, like himself, had recently left the United States, preferring to live under the British flag. After examining the surrounding country, he resolved to make the place his home. He had not come without means, and he purchased a lot of one hundred acres in the eastern part of the township of Sidney, which is now in the western part of the city. Here, on the farm, he continued to live until his death. At this time there was no other doctor west of Kingston, as far up as Cobourg. Consequently the field of practice over which Dr. Meacham had to travel on horseback by a bridle path extended over Prince Edward District eastward to Napanee, westward to Colborne, and northward to Rawdon. It was a common thing to be absent several days, and sometimes more than a week.

At the time of the war of 1812, he was Surgeon to the Hastings Battalion of Militia, and was stationed at Kingston. At the close of the war, Dr. Meacham received very flattering testimonials from the military authorities at Kingston.

Dr. Meacham passed a brief, but very useful life. Not only was he well up in his profession, but he continued a student, and he had brought in with him a good supply of medical books and surgical instruments.

Dr. Meacham married Elizabeth Simons, daughter of Commissioner Simons, whose brother distinguished himself at Lundy's Lane. He was a brother-in-law to Simon McNab, and the Rev. Dr. McNab, now rector of Bowmanville, was a nephew.

His death took place in October, 1815, from the effects of a cold caused by exposure while visiting a patient in Rawdon. The following account of his death and funeral is taken from the Kingston GAZETTE: "Died--Universally regretted, on the morning of the 22nd inst., at his farm, in Sidney, near the River Moira, after a short and severe illness, Dr. Seth Meacham, aged forty-seven. He resided in Sidney and Thurlow for upwards of fourteen years past, during which time he exercised his profession as a physician with great success and general satisfaction to the public. He was much esteemed by all who knew him, for the strict practice of those moral and social duties which inspire respect and give true dignity to the man. His death, by the inhabitants of the adjacent townships also, will be most severely felt, having been at all times ready and willing when called upon to give medical aid to the poor, as well as to the rich. He has left a widow and four small children to mourn the loss of an affectionate husband and a most tender and benevolent parent. The remains were interred in the burying ground at Thurlow, on the afternoon of the 23rd inst., with Masonic honours, attended by a numerous train of friends and connections." It is interesting to notice by an account now before us, to William Bell, of Thurlow, that for "inoculation of six" persons, by Dr. Meacham, there was a charge of £ 1.10.

Dr. Meacham had two sons. The eldest, James Hubbard Meacham, now eighty-four years old, is one of the oldest inhabitants of Belleville, who has been postmaster of that city for upwards of forty years, and is known as one of the salt of the earth. Personal regard for a dear friend does not prejudice the writer in saying that a nobler, more upright man does not exist.

The second son was named Simon, who now lives at Odessa, with his son,

The Medical Profession of Upper Canada (cont'd).

Dr. Walter Meacham, member of the Provincial Legislature for Lennox and Addington. A daughter of Simon married a son of the Rev. Dr. Stinson.

J. H. Meacham has two sons living. The eldest, Rev. Dr. Meacham, is well known as a Methodist missionary in Japan, where he is now labouring, and whose labours have been attended with manifest success. A second son is James Bogart Meacham, druggist, of Toronto.

One of Dr. Seth Meacham's daughters remained unmarried; the other became the wife of Gilbert Bogart, of Belleville, whose daughter is the wife of Judge Dean, of Lindsay.

The History of the Bogart Family in Canada.

Marshall C. Bogart.

Gilbert Curtis Bogart, son of Abraham Bogart and Mary Lazier, born 9 Oct., 1806, married Ann Meacham. He died 2 Aug., 1870.

Gilbert married Ann Meacham, by whom he had three children, one son and two daughters. He, being a carpenter, built the palatial home, which is now occupied as the Marchmont House in West Belleville. He sold this white elephant and came down to Camden East, where he operated a large flour mill in connection with his farm. Afterwards this mill became the Thompson Paper Mill, and now the Mount Paper Mills. He sold out there and purchased a farm west of Napanee on the Deseronto road, where he died.

Charity Cocklin, their (Abraham Bogart and Mary Lazier) youngest child, born 18 Dec., 1814, married Hubbard Meacham. She died 21 Feb., 1847. He was postmaster at Belleville for over half a century. They had three sons and one daughter. One son died in early manhood, and their eldest son, the Reverend George M. Meacham, occupied many prominent circuits in the Bay of Quinte Conference and was one of the early Methodist missionaries in Japan.

Lt.Colonel H.C. Burleigh, M.D.
BATH
Ontario

My dear friend and Kinsman:

On August 10th, 1950, at the suggestion of Mr. Charles G. Crouse, the Secretary of the Upper Canada Genealogical Society, I wrote you regarding the Clemow family. I mentioned to you that the ancestor of the Clemow family in Canada, on the mother side, was Henrietta Loedel, daughter of Doctor Henry Nicholas Christopher Loedel, a physician, who came to Canada with the Brunswickers of General Von Riedsel in 1775. He married in 1784 Marguerite Gamelin. My great grandmother Christina Loedel, a sister of Mrs. Clemow, married John Gordon of the Ordinance Corps, British Army, who died in Kingston in 1837. He was buried there.

Henrietta Loedel married Captain John William Clemow of De Watteville Regiment who died in Montreal in 1828. She remarried in Montreal on April 23rd, 1836 John Jones and they lived in Kingston. Henrietta Loedel had the following children:

HENRIETTA CLEMOW who married Dr. Wheterall who had no children.

ELIZABETH CLEMOW who died young.

CATHERINE CLEMOW Who married Dr. James Meagher of Kingston.

QUEBEC, March 26th, 1953.

Lt.Colonel H.C. Burleigh, M.D.

FRANK CLEMOW born May 3rd, 1821, died in Ottawa on May 28th, 1902. He was a Senator at the time of his death. He married Margaret Powell and had as issue:

- 1) Edith Clemow born around 1842 or 49.
- 2) Frank Clemow Jr., a barrister, born in 1847.
- 3) Ada Clemow born around 1851-52.

I have corresponded with one of the descendants, Mrs. Meagher who gave me some information regarding the family and I wrote to her daughter, Mrs. Albert Gratton of Cornwall to get more information but my letters remained without answer. Any information you could give me regarding the descendants of the Captain Clemow and of Senator Clemow would be greatly appreciated.

At the time I sent you copies of the correspondence I exchanged with Mrs. Meagher I also sent you one of the letters I wrote her daughter at the same time. As I have not been able to find my notes on the Globensky family, which after a very serious illness I had given to my brother for safe keeping, I would appreciate if you could send me the informations you have regarding the Globensky family, principally regarding Mary Leocadie Globensky who had married Stanislas Cloutier.

Have you by any chance anything on Louis Edouard Globensky who was a Notary Public. I know that he lived at Belle-Rivière, Ste-Scholastique. I have not been able to find out who he had married. I know that his descendants were Godfray, who was a merchant, Jules, Alphonse, Napoléon, Honorine Globensky who married the Honourable Wilfrid Prevost, mother of the Honourable Jean Prevost who was at one time Member of the Gouin Administration in Quebec. The Honourable Jean Prevost's son ran in the last Provincial Election and was defeated. He is now a Judge of the Superior Court.

QUEBEC, March 26th, 1953.

Lt.Colonel H.C. Burleigh, M.D.

I hope my request will be well received and that I may have the pleasure of hearing from you before very long. You have a great reputation as an historical.

Thanking you in advance, and with kind regards, I am,

Yours sincerely,

If you feel
ALL-IN

These days most people work under pressure, worry more, sleep less. This strain on body and brain makes physical fitness easier to lose—harder to regain. Today's tense living, lowered resistance, overwork, worry—any of these may affect normal kidney action. When kidneys get out of order, excess acids and wastes remain in the system. Then backache, disturbed rest, that "tired-out" heavy-headed feeling often follow. That's the time to take Dodd's Kidney Pills. Dodd's stimulate the kidneys to normal action. Then you feel better—sleep better—work better. Ask for Dodd's Kidney Pills at any drug counter.

WEDDINGS OF INTEREST

MILLER—WILLS

A wedding of interest was solemnized in Grace United Church, Lansdowne, on Monday, Sept. 15, 1952, at five o'clock when Rev. Riley Smalley united in marriage Miss Marilyn Eline Wills, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Wills to Mr. James Gordon Miller, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. James G. Miller, Ajax, Ontario. Mrs. John Donevan was organist.

The radiant bride, given in marriage by her father was in a ballerina length gown of white Chantilly lace. The bodice and three quarter length sleeves were of lace. The skirt was of pleated nylon net overlaid and draped with lace. Her fingertip veil of nylon net fell from a tiara of white baby chrysanthemums. She carried a fan of American Beauty roses.

The bridesmaid, Miss Shirley Grier, Gananoque, Ont., wore a strapless ballerina length gown of lime green nylon net with matching tiara and bolero. She carried a nosegay of mauve and yellow baby 'mums.

Mr. John Stevenson, Kingston, was groomsman and Mr. Ross Atkins and Mr. George Joyce, Lansdowne, were ushers.

A reception for thirty guests was held at Hotel Blinkbonnie, Gananoque, where the mother of the bride received in a navy blue metallic suit, with navy accessories and a corsage of red roses.

The happy couple left for a honeymoon in the New England states and western Ontario, the bride travelling in a grey flannel suit with navy blue accessories and a corsage of Talisman roses.

On their return, the bride and groom will reside in Kingston where the groom will attend Queen's University.

An Intimate Picture of Angus Mowat author of a new novel to be published Autumn 1944 by S.J. Reginald Saunders and Company Limited

GARRYING PLACE

THE AUTHOR was asked for a short biography to be used for his new book. The following is quoted in Mr. Mowat's own words:

"Dear Reg:--

Even if we never do get a title for it, you'll still be wanting a blurb for the new book.

Well, the London (I mean Western) University Library is preparing a who's who of Canadian Fiction writers since 1920 and, naturally, has asked me to head the list. It isn't going to cost me a cent, not like the time I gave the fellow a snapshot of my boat and found that by so doing I had committed myself to the purchase of a $10 history of a well-known Ontario city.

But as I was saying, I got myself interviewed by a young reporter and sent the result, this autobiographical note, to Jimmy Talman of Western. I hope you know him. If you don't you ought. And enclosed is a copy for you. As soon as the type is set up let me have it back for the family album. I haven't another copy.

Sincerely,

A.M."

And here follows Mr. Mowat's story:

This guy was born in Trenton in 1892, or so he thinks. As he recalls easily the last days of lumbering in that town and the last of the schooners (barley, lumber and coal) plying the Bay of Quinte (call it "Kantie" if you want to but it sounds like the devil), the date is probably quite correct. Anyhow, he's old enough to know better than waste his time writing novels that nobody wants to read. I mean he ought to be.

The house in which Mowat was born (vide "Then We Were Taking a Look Upward" #) overlooks about fifteen miles of the (from the navigational point of view) damndest part of the Bay of Quinte. Mowat's first recognizable words, as recorded by a doting mother in the front of the family Bible and dated 1894 were, "Hey Maw, there's the old 'Fleet Wings' comin' a-beatin' up the Nigger Narrows all-standin' again! S'welp me, that Clem Vanalstine'll take the sticks outa her if he don't get them God Damned tops'ls in right smart."

On the other hand, it would appear that Mowat's family were respected (if turbulent) Scots who probably adopted most of their respectability after the first of them came to Canada. He was John Mowat. It was after the Peninsular War, in which he served, and he took his discharge in Kingston and ended up a successful merchant (the only one the family has ever been able to boast) and one of the founders of Queen's University. He was this guy's great grandfather. His grandfather was Professor J.B. Mowat of Queen's, brother of Sir Oliver.

It is difficult to get any further information out of our hero, once the name of Sir Oliver is mentioned, because he persists in getting off on the "Oliver Mowat," a three-sticker of some repute on the lakes in the barley days. She is said to be the only vessel on the Great Lakes that carried five headsails. She was finally run down (about 1928 he thinks) off the Main Ducks by a smoke-boat, taking her skipper and cook with her. Neither was any relation, however, either to Sir Oliver or our hero.

Mowat's father, Robert McGill, was for forty years in the hardware and vessel-supply business in Trenton.

Mowat went to the Trenton public and high schools and didn't do very well. He then squeezed his way into Queen's and didn't do very well. In September 1914 he enlisted in order to avoid some supplementary examinations and went overseas. And still didn't do very well. He was made a lieutenant because he wasn't a very good sergeant.

After the war Mowat went into a business office in order to make a lot of money quickly, but he found that he had to add and multiply and as he couldn't he gave that up and went down into Hastings County, in dudgeon, to keep bees. There was an interlude when he spent a winter "Bolting"

#His first novel, "Then I'll Look Up."

in the Port Arthur shipyard. Froze both feet very thoroughly on that job Oh yes, there was another interlude when he got married and took his long-suffering bride out into the Nipigon Reserve to fire-range.

Love in a tepee! Boy, that's the life!

However, getting back to the bees. They couldn't add or multiply either, so Mowat didn't do very well at that, although he states that it was great fun. By this time he had begotten a son and that was fun too. So they all lived on honey and soda biscuits and sailed boats on the Bay of Quinte and rambled round in a 1914 Model T and kept on just having a hell of a lot of fun till the soda biscuits ran out and Mowat had to go to work.

Being a librarian looked about the softest thing on the horizon at the moment, so he took the Trenton library, went to library school, where he didn't do very well because he couldn't take commas on a catalogue card seriously, and then ran (or did he?) the Belleville, Windsor and Saskatoon libraries. This was not done all at once. He took them in turn. During this time he did a lot of interesting reading and was handed a couple of degrees. The sheepskins have long been lost or used to patch leaks in canoes, and the mortar board was last seen being sent down the Saskatchewan River with a sail on it--by the younger Mowat--but quite a lot of the interesting reading seems to have stuck somewhere in what Mowat coyly refers to as his semi-conscious. Or sometimes he calls it just his libido.

Anyhow, in 1937 they couldn't persuade a real librarian to take the job of Inspector of Public Libraries for Ontaraway (that's what Westerners always call it) so they persuaded Mowat to give up his beloved West and come east and buy his dream ship.

Interviewer's Note:

The next half of the day was spent in a pub listening to Mowat rave about his dream ship the "Scotch Bonnet" in which he and his wife, who is a humourist and a game sport and a long-suffering angel--she has to be--live from the day the ice goes out in the spring till it makes again in the fall. However, this part is omitted. It cost the interviewer $4.50 in beer and tips.

- - - - -

On the other hand, it seems that Mowat has always been one of those damned fools who distrusts Germans and so he has also been one of those damned fools who went on with his Militia work (at considerable personal expense) when the Bennetts and the McPhails and others were all for preparing to surrender everything in the next war. So he has been for years a major in the Hasty P. (The Hastings & Prince Edward Regt.) and got mobilized in 1939. It looked for a time as if he might have to go to war, which is dangerous, but fortunately the M.O. decided that he was too badly shot in the last war to go running around getting half shot in this. So he stayed home and rode an army m'cycle for four years.

And that was a lot of fun, too.

His son went over in the old regiment instead, and, having passed through the unpleasantness in Sicily and Italy without a scratch (except for Italian fleas) is now a captain. Mowat Sr. was finally kicked out of the army in the spring of 1944.

And that was fun.

An effort was made to find out about Mowat's so-called writing. It seems that he has written two novels. One had a title that made it impossible to sell because very few people could spell it and nobody at all could say it. Reginald Saunders is bringing out the second this autumn. It hasn't got a title. After a lot of close questioning we came to the conclusion that Mowat himself doesn't know what the damned books are about, so there's no use going into that any further.

I asked Mowat what reading had most influenced his life and writing. Of course, like everybody else, he promptly Publisher's Note: Thank goodness the last pages of this nonsense have been irretrievably lost.

Dear Friend;

Re your research order of April 4, and letter. Was unable to get to this matter until yesterday. Sorry, 1851 Census for Sophiasburgh is not in Archives. Remembered that that Township, (or part of it) extended over into Hallowell Twp. so searched that area. Found a few names which I trust will be relevant to your search. My Fee $ 3.00.

Glad to hear you are all well and getting a good education.

Best regards,

Gord.

Dear Mr. Burleigh:

I am sorry in the delay in answering your letter of April 4, 1971.

Thank you for your remarks regarding my Genealogy searching, which you feel I have been very thorough. I have tried to be and have tried to get as much information that seems to be available.

I am glad that you have ordered a search of the 1851 census records for the Demorestville and surrounding area and whatever the cost will be I will send to you when known. I had ordered the 1851-61-71- census records from Public Archives, Ottawa through the library in Painesville, Ohio, which has in the past ordered other things for me, last January and to date they have not arrived, so at this time I request that you do not search for 1861-71.

The search for land records and wills I have worked through the Registry Office and Surrogate Court Office in Picton, and it appears there are no records of either which will add to my cause. I have some land records from Dept. of Public Records and Archives in Toronto, which have been of some help.

Mr. Silcox, President of Ontario Genealogical Society sent me the name of Mr. C. Loral Wanamaker of Belleville, whom he stated had made a search of Cemetery in Prince Edward County and I have his report on all the Munros who were buried in various Cemeteries through out the County. The fact that I have what information that seems to be available on lands, wills and cemeteries on Munros I do not believe that further search will show any more than what I already have, unless you know of other places where past records might be kept for Prince Edward County.

Thank you, regarding U.E.L. membership as I would be descended from James Cotter Sr, and Jr. I would like to know more about this membership. What a person has to do to prove and the cost to belong?

In reference to your letter of March 23, 1971 you mentioned that there were several Munros who settled in the area about Cornwall, Ont. I had always been told that my Samuel Munro b. 1757 and wife had received a land grant of 200 acres from the Crown in Northport area but there is no record of such that can be found. There was a Samuel Munro of Edwardsburg that had been granted land on the 26th. of June 1789, as taken from microfilm on the Haldimand Papers, sent from Public Archives. To my knowledge this Samuel must have been from another Munro branch, although there is also information on Cotters and Allans families, so I'm beginning to wonder if this Samuel could be the one I am looking for or is it possible they could be the same person. I would have to have much more on this Samuel of Edwardsburg and received land to be sure if he is my rightful descendent. I believe there was another Samuel Munro of Yonge or York in 1817 but this is all I know of him.

Will be looking for your reply on the 1851 census and your cost for the search.

Sincerely,

Edward V. Munro.

Mr. McFern is a native of Florence, son of the late Robert McFern, but has resided on the island for over 60 years and in March 1939, he and Mrs. McFern celebrated their 60th wedding anniversary. Although he is approaching his 86th birthday Mr. McFern has always enjoyed excellent health until the past year when he has been confined to the home by heart trouble. While in his 83^d year, following the destruction of his home by fire, he erected a modern 7-room semi-bungalow house, doing all of the carpenter work himself. His memory and eyesight are excellent and he keeps in touch with local events through the columns of the Advance-Journal.

There is one honest man in Syracuse. Diogenes, at least. Put out your lantern, for your man resides here.

William Mc Fern, 104½ Davis St., an employee of the Chapin & Skelton Company, found an endorsed check for $125.00, as good as cash, made out to the Community Chest.

Chest officials, unable to explain how the check got into the street, were bowled over, as it were, when the letter from Mc Fern containing the check made its appearance at the office. They have written to thank him for the honesty he showed and congratulating his company on having him with them.

There is a difference in the Korean war which may explain the apparent low incidence of self-inflicted wounded cases. In the Second World War there was no rotation system. The rotation system in Korea, under which the average man can figure he will start home after anywhere from 11 to about 14 months, makes a difference in soldier thinking, say the experts.

Man, 84, Hit By Automobile

Mon. Oct. 6, 1952

DENBIGH (Special) — An accident resulting in serious injury to an 84-year-old man and $1,500 damage occurred yesterday four miles south of here.

A car driven by Charles O'Reilley, Douglas, struck Stephen Mountenay, 84, who was walking along the brow of a hill. Mr. Mountenay was taken to Belleville General Hospital suffering from multiple injuries, but due to his advanced age is not expected to survive.

The automobile plunged down a 15-foot embankment and came to rest between two rocks. Mr. O'Reilley was taken to Renfrew Hospital suffering from a broken shoulder, internal injuries and shock.

Gordon Stout of the Ontario Provincial Police investigated the accident.

Since 1871 the estate has been managed by the late Mr. Moutray, whose uncle owned it after Sir John. The island is of historic interest because it was under attack by the pirate William Johnson during the Troublesome year 1838.
